Well, all of you, my friends - here they are. Take them. Take my hands, hold them, shake them, release them, but don't forget them. Take my hands, my teachers: lead me to the test tubes and slide rules, to the works of those men searching for truth in literature, history, art and music. Take my hands now so that later I may be able to search on my own. And you, who make my day worth getting up in the morning - let me begin to learn to give by giving you these hands now. Mom, Dad, these are my hands, only older and bigger than you remember - the ones you have held for all these years. Keep them always in your heart, but loosen your grip now just a little, so that someday I may really be able to let go.

And you, my Father: take me.

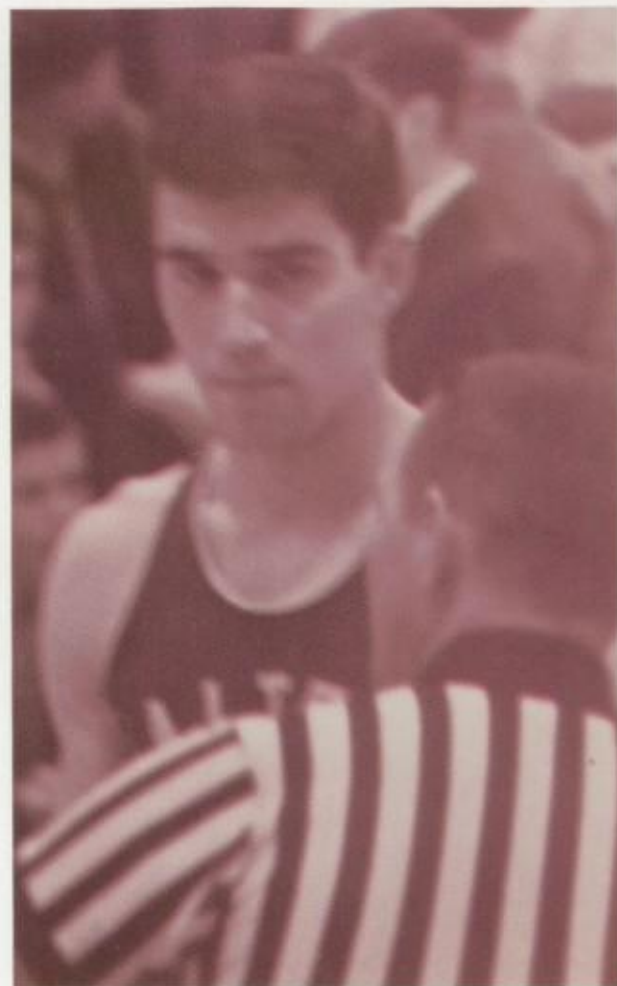

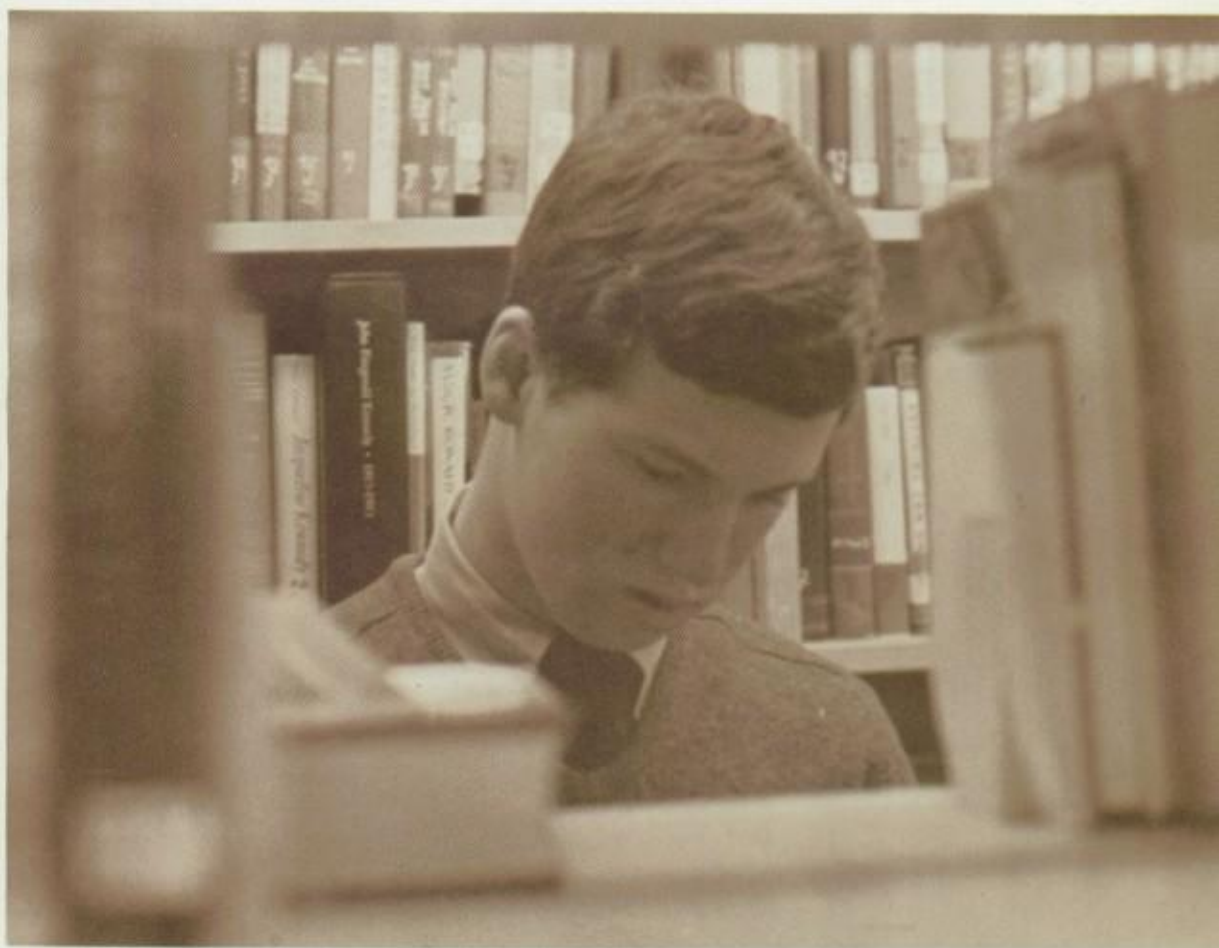

FACES TALK

This day is any day. Now can be anytime from the day we first see this book until the last of us sits - old, gray, experienced, reading once more the words of wide-eyed high school kids.

We all know: this is not the United States Constitution to be kept under glass until the end of practically forever. But this will live, some way or another, because this is not paper and pictures and print but ideas, panic, laughter, sore typing fingers and blood. This is one year, full of victorious games, and dropped books, and passed tests, and heart-aches, and songs and missed assignments. This is you, gang: Hop on!

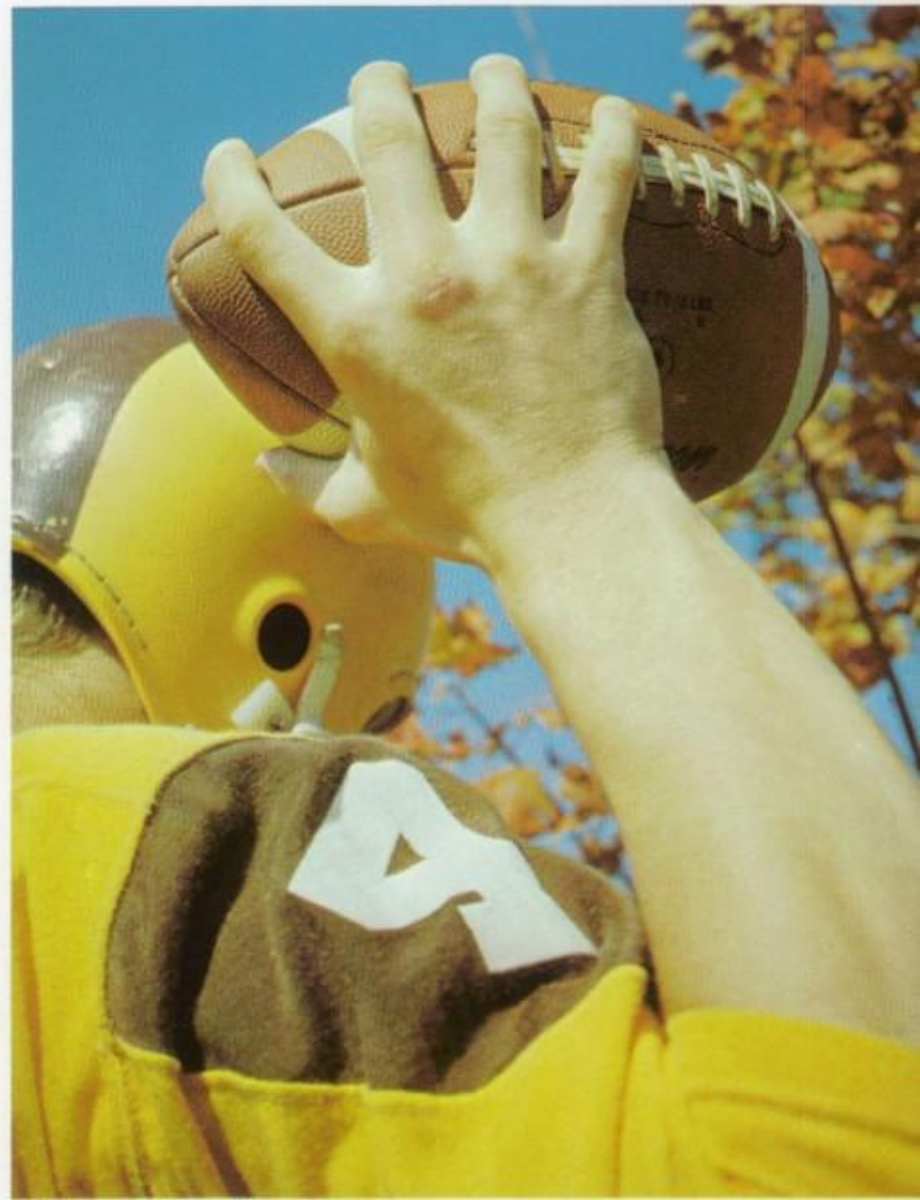

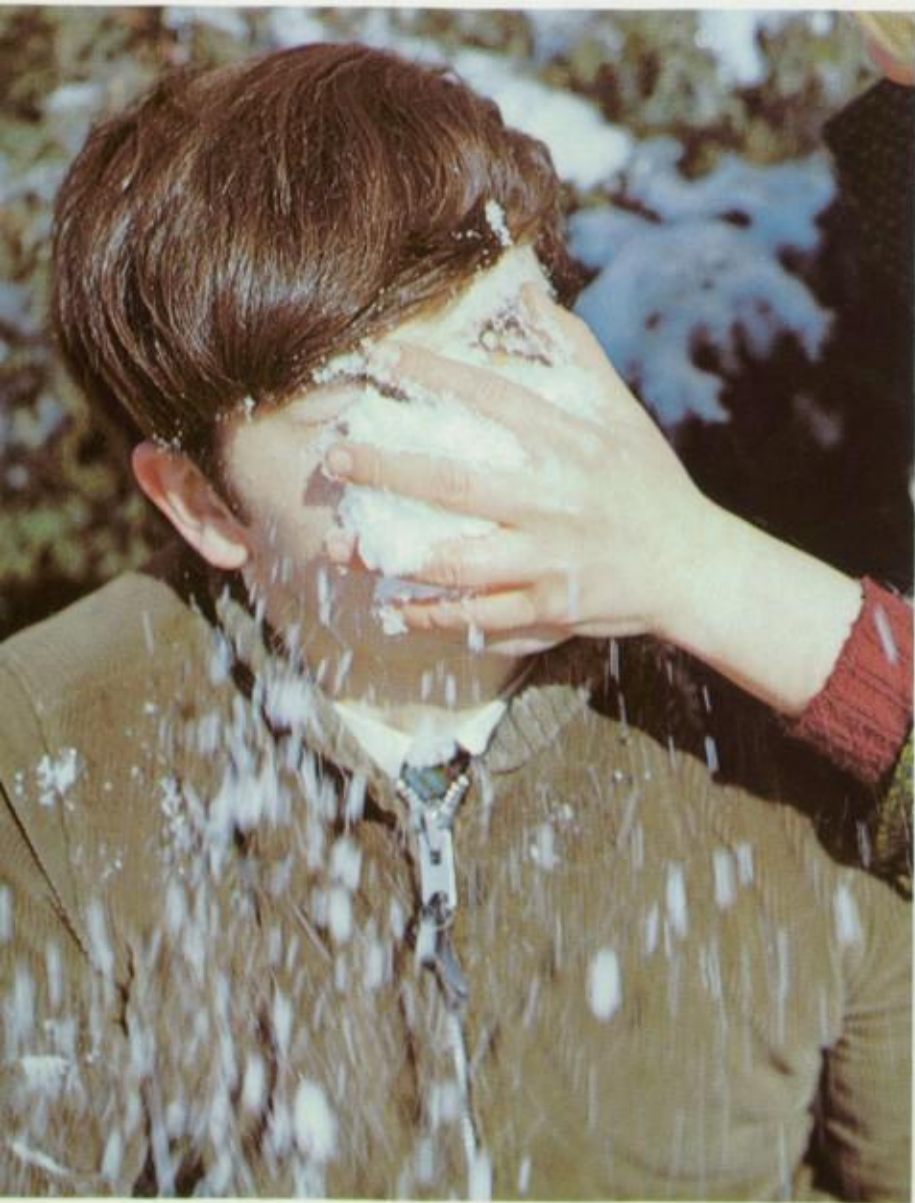

THE YEAR

FALL

To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under heaven. A time to be born, a time to die; a time to be taught, a time to teach; a time to be a freshman, book-balancing and bewildered, a time to be a senior, tired and still a little bewildered, but ready for more. A time to pass a football, a time to pass a test; a time to throw snowballs and a time to pick flowers. But what is a season, anyway? Some arbitrary wall that says now you wear gloves and boots but tomorrow baseball season starts? Some division of years into four very handy boxes? Maybe not; maybe seasons kind of blur together, fuzzy at the edges, and maybe a season is a mood or an outlook. Then why is fall, when everything seems to die a little outside, the start of a year of learning and so much else? Why is winter, when the looks of all the trees are changed by snow and ice, the same time that somehow everything seems to mentally stand still? Or spring, which is the beginning-again of so many things, the end of the school year? Or do things become born and die all at the same time? To everything there is a season: a time for knowing why, a time for wondering . . .

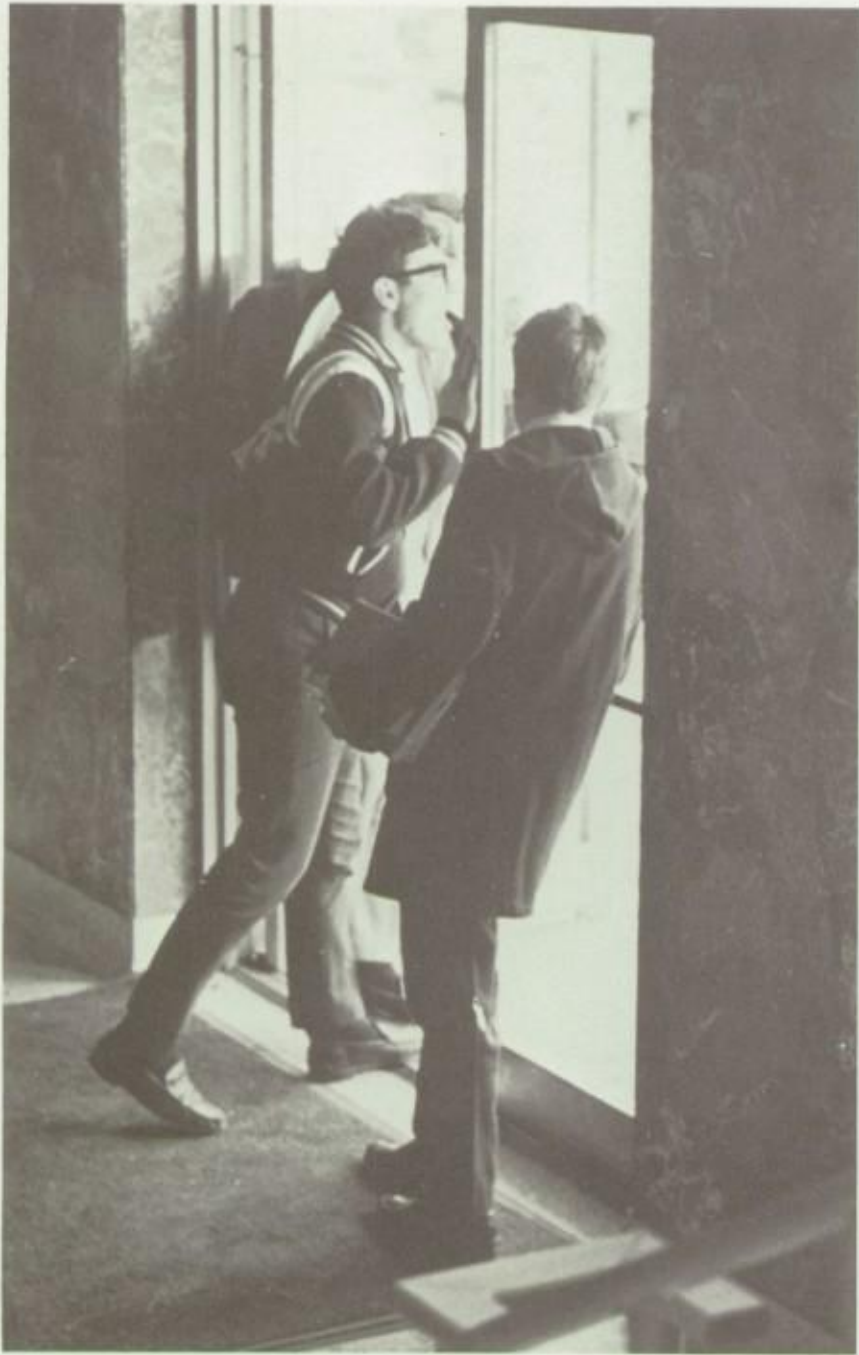

SPRING

WINTER

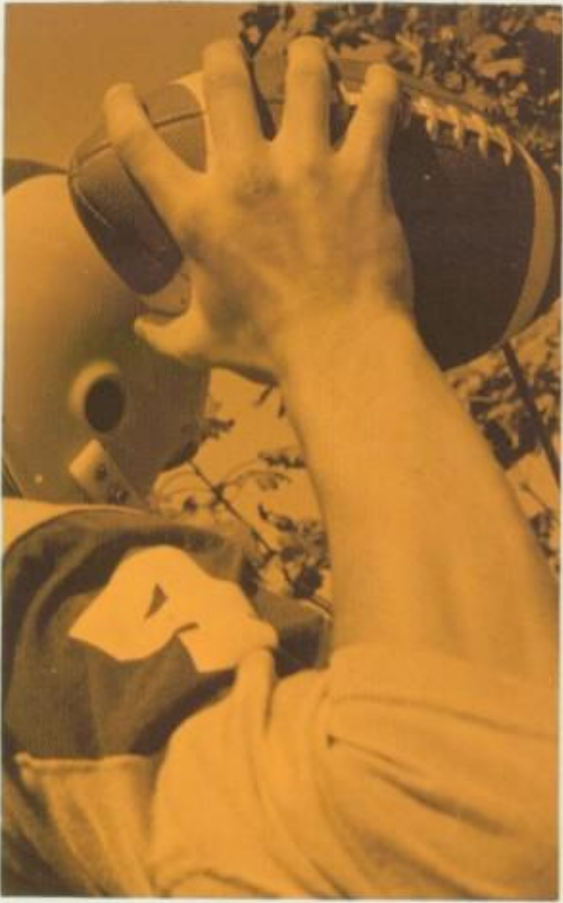

Come on in . . the water's fine . . only a little cold at first . . lockers, millions of them . . what do they do, reproduce? . . schedule conflicts . . teachers, homework, classrooms, homework, change of class, and homework . . buried under the weight of so many facts, the sum of which seems to be absolute zero . . absentee lists . . out of uniform slips . . open the windows, get some fresh air in here! . . in Febbbrrrruary? . . no the bookstore is closed . . but, but . . I'm sorry, but the library is closed now . . but my report, tomorrow . . but, but . . sob . . Let me OUT! . . HEY, WAIT! . . I didn't mean it . . thanks.

Our 1967 Holiday-at-Home float.

HOLIDAY AT HOME

On Labor Day, Kettering asks its population to participate in its Holiday-at-Home.

The Marching Band and Lancerettes from Alter performed in the Labor Day Parade.

Adding to the festivities was the Athletic Association's Annual Chicken Barbecue.

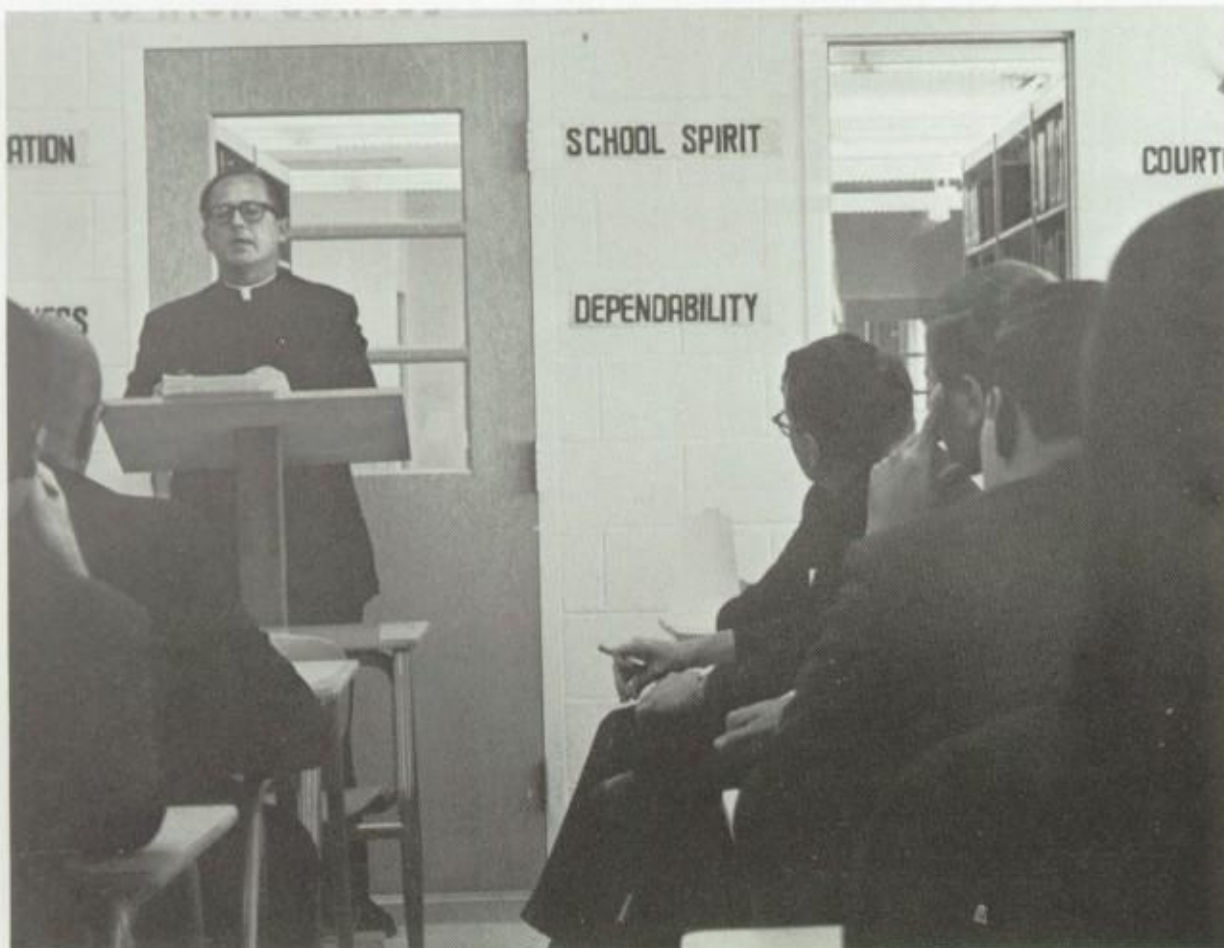

The climax of the day was a Band Spectacular and a talent show at Fairmont Stadium.

Smoke gets in your eyes.

"But mommy, I want a HAMBURGER!"

" . . . for better or for worse, for richer, for poorer . . . "

Within the week before school began, while the football team and marching corps prepared for the demands of the coming year, the faculty, too, came together to get ready for what would come. "A time to teach, a time to be taught. . . ." Our faculty, realizing that they would face much besides eager students, aching to learn, gave of their time to be taught- by each other, and by movies and other media, how to cope with these problems. Those who were new came to get an idea of how to work within the structure of Alter. Many came to see new ways of presenting ideas. And then, there we were.

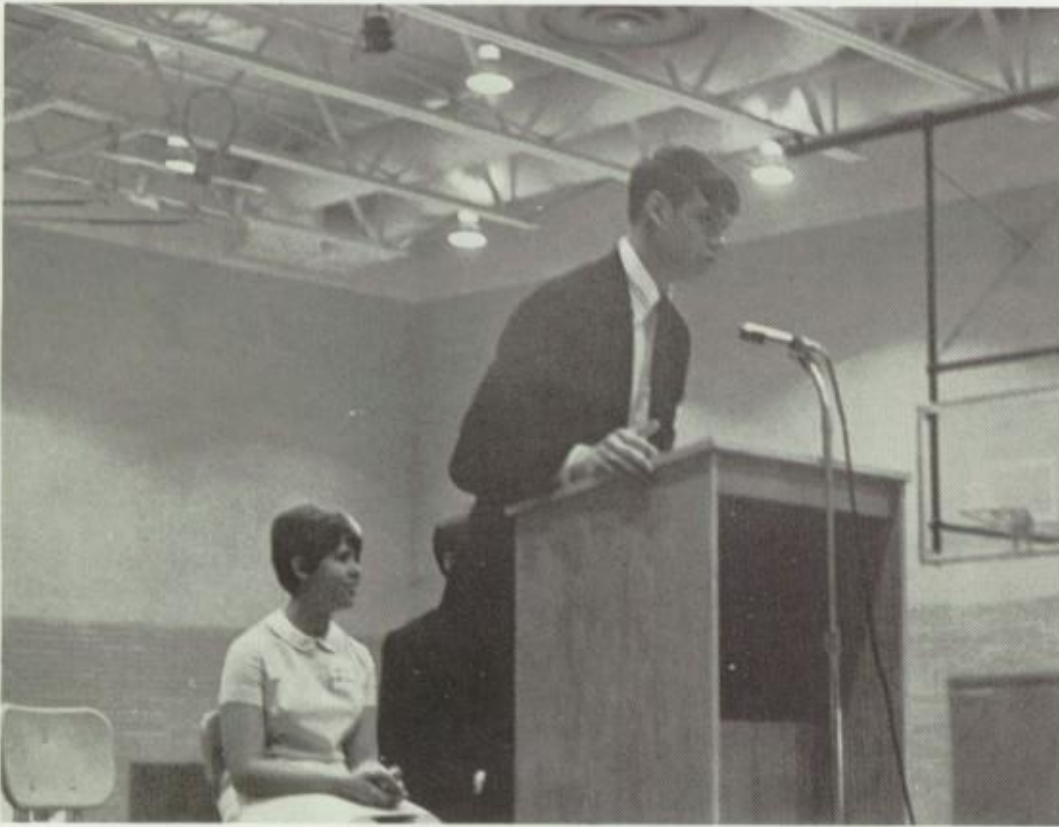

AND THEN THERE WAS . . . ?

Mr. Petrocelli sees the popcorn coming.

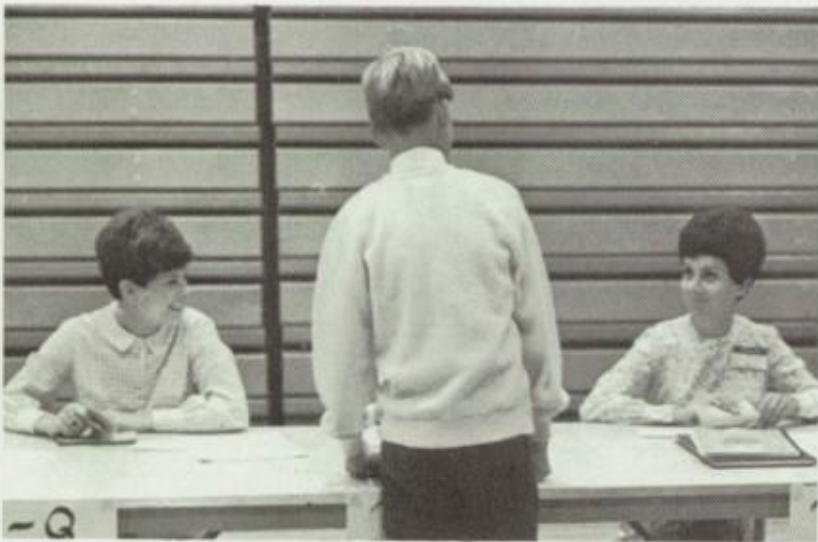

Compoz. C-O-M-P-O-Z.

Out of all the undying truths about high school life, one stands out as the most indisputable: freshmen just don't know. Their blunders are famed in history; they cannot and will not be forgotten. However they can and will be forgiven. As soon as one of these unfortunates proves that he has overcome his usual difficulties: lost eyes, lost books, lost everything, and substitutes unbelievable quantities of mental and physical stamina and a sense of humor, we welcome him.

And we've even got chocolate milk for lunch. . .

Quit laughing and tell him where it is.

You cut back to 222, and you take the stairs.

What's a nice kid like you doing in a place like this?

The Awards Assembly, held in September is a chance for students who have been an asset to Alter academically and in other ways to be honored.

In previous years it was held in May, but it was changed to early in the year to provide an initiative to students to do as well as they had previously.

The Music Department shows its appreciation.

"For the laudable endeavors of these dedicated individuals . . ."

U.N. ASSEMBLY

McQuiston does it again.

What if he rusts?

They don't look so tough

There they are, Uncle Sam

Pat Gantt opened and closed the assembly.

Genevieve Lorendeau, our exchange student, Oui.

In late October, the Junior Council on World Affairs presented its Fourth Annual Model General Assembly of the United Nations. This was the climax of U.N. Week, during which countries were assigned to each homeroom, which then prepared a representative for the costume contest and tried to view the resolutions to be presented as their adopted country would.

The Assembly concerned itself primarily with resolutions concerning the Mid-East Crisis, Vietnam, Reapportionment and an Amendment to a particular section of the United Nations Charter. These were introduced by Patricia McKenny, Marilyn Riley, Gerald Cannon and Mark DeBard. The Secretary General of the Assembly was Patrick Gantt. During the Assembly also, Mike McQuiston, 206, was announced winner of the costume contest. The assembly was well-received and informative for all.

Alter pep rallies are not merely seen or heard, nor can they be understood by any one who is a stranger to Alter halls. Spirit isn't instantaneous; it is born of long days of class and nights of homework. It was there through it all. But suddenly it rises to the surface and overflows. Clapping hands resound and feet stomp, people yell, and when you sit down the guy's foot behind you was on your seat, and somebody just blew a whistle in your ear, and you don't know what hit you in the head, but it hurts, and it's stuffy in here. But somehow there's only one thing on your mind: GO, GO, GO!

Guilty as charged- Penalty: DEATH!

What now my love?

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!

Onward Christian Soldiers.

HOMECOMING 1967

CHARGE!

'67 Homecoming

The Queen and her court.

Strangers and the Knight.

One of the many deserving seniors honored.

Alter's second Homecoming was held during the weekend of October 7th. The previous night there was a bonfire and pep rally held by the juniors, who also won the float contest. Saturday night our 1st two graduating classes saw Alter defeat Springfield Catholic 26-14, and Sue Kussman become the second Homecoming Queen with her date, Jerry Rogero. A semiformal dance was held at Alter afterwards.

Sue Kussman, Queen, and Jerry Rogero.

And behind the scene...

Tears of joy.

CHARLIE'S AUNT

The first play of the year, CHARLIE'S AUNT, was given by the Castle Players on Nov. 17, 18, and 19. A comedy by Brandon Thomas, it brought in record crowds who enjoyed the fine production greatly. Leading roles included Jerry Rogero as Charley Wykeham and Nick Engler as Lord Fancourt Babberly.

I know it's funny, but...!

Lard Fancourt Babberly?? Charlies Aunt??

Ridiculous.

Fourscore and seven years ago . . .

*Tim,

Just recognition of my talents!
(burn it up) Good luck
Bart*

The Castle Players includes many types of people doing, as the theater demands, very diversified types of work. There are the actors, who concentrate on drama itself - losing themselves temporarily to portray someone else. There is the stage crew, further specialized into light and sound men, those who design and build sets, and our own versions of Odd Job, the Handyman. There are make-up and costume people, ticket sellers and program designers. There is the audience, bless their hearts. Headaches, too - and finally, for all, peaceful exhaustion.

. . . but it takes work.

This season brought variety in pep rallies. The old Carroll skit in which a visiting Patriot is fed the most "appropriate" food around, was resurrected once again. Different homerooms, notably the Morgue, and the Senior boys in 205, lead the school in others, and kept spirit flying high during the '67 season.

Sing Out, 205

Oil me.

Mr. Truxel's dinner?

R-I-I-I-P!!

Who wants a turkey?

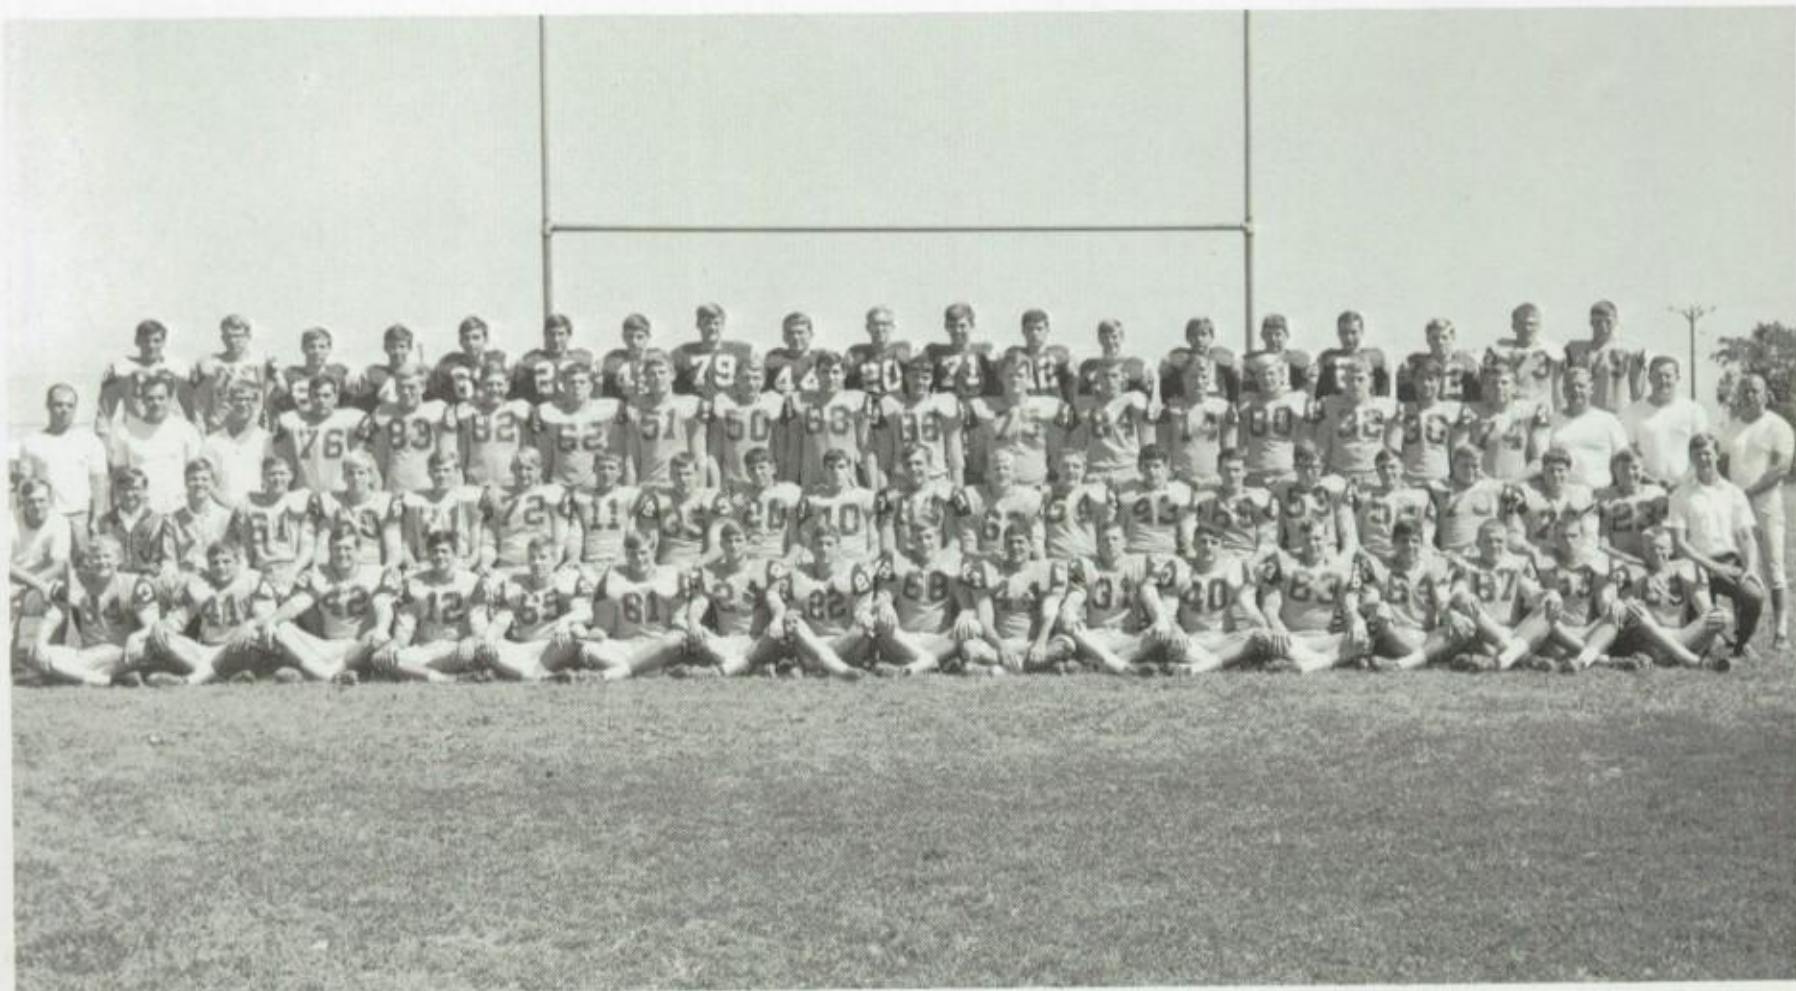

Loading up with goodies for the deserving.

In the weeks before Thanksgiving, members of Red Cross headed a school-wide collection of food and money to be given to people not able to enjoy as abundant a Thanksgiving as students at Alter. Wednesday after school the food was delivered, and those involved were glad to have given someone else something to give thanks for.

Thanksgiving will be a happy one for some poor family.

Phlegmatic ?!

Future Varsity.... Good Luck Boys!

Tim forgot something!!

Mr. Connor and Mr. Rankin lay out the strategy.

The Alter Knights launched their 1967 football season with a win over rival Fairmont West. The two TD's involved the arm of Junior Q. B. Bob Conway and the clutching hands of Senior tight end, and captain, Tom Belle. The plays went for 31 and 45 yds. The defensive unit, led by Junior Tim Quinn, displayed sure tackling and good team work in disposing of the Dragons.

A stubborn and stiff-necked defense and the pinpoint passing of Bob Conway led the Knights to their second straight victory over Fairmont East. The East offense crossed into Alter's territory only twice. Conway connected on 15 of 29 passes for 200 yds. In the second quarter he fired a 26 yd. TD to Belle. Steve Fraley's kick made it 7-0. Dan Reichert scored the other TD. His pass to Chuck Ellis was complete for the 2 pt. conversion, making the final score 15-0.

Alter's football dynasty over Carroll was on the brink of disaster when the hustling and fighting Patriots took a 14-7 half-time lead. The Knights drew first blood when the half-back, Jim Koehnen, found pay dirt from 6 yds. out. Jim went on to break the school's rushing record, running and slashing for 201 yds. In the third quarter the Knights exploded for 15 pts. taking a 22-14 decision from the Pat's, which gave us a continued supremacy in football over our major rival.

This year's Homecoming had a joyous outcome with the Knights defeating Springfield Catholic 26-14. Alter led at the half 6-0, but exploded for 20 pts. in the third quarter. Dennis Neff returned an intercepted pass good for 85 yds., giving the Knights their third win.

Lynch leads the way for Koehnen.

Reichert gathers in the payload.

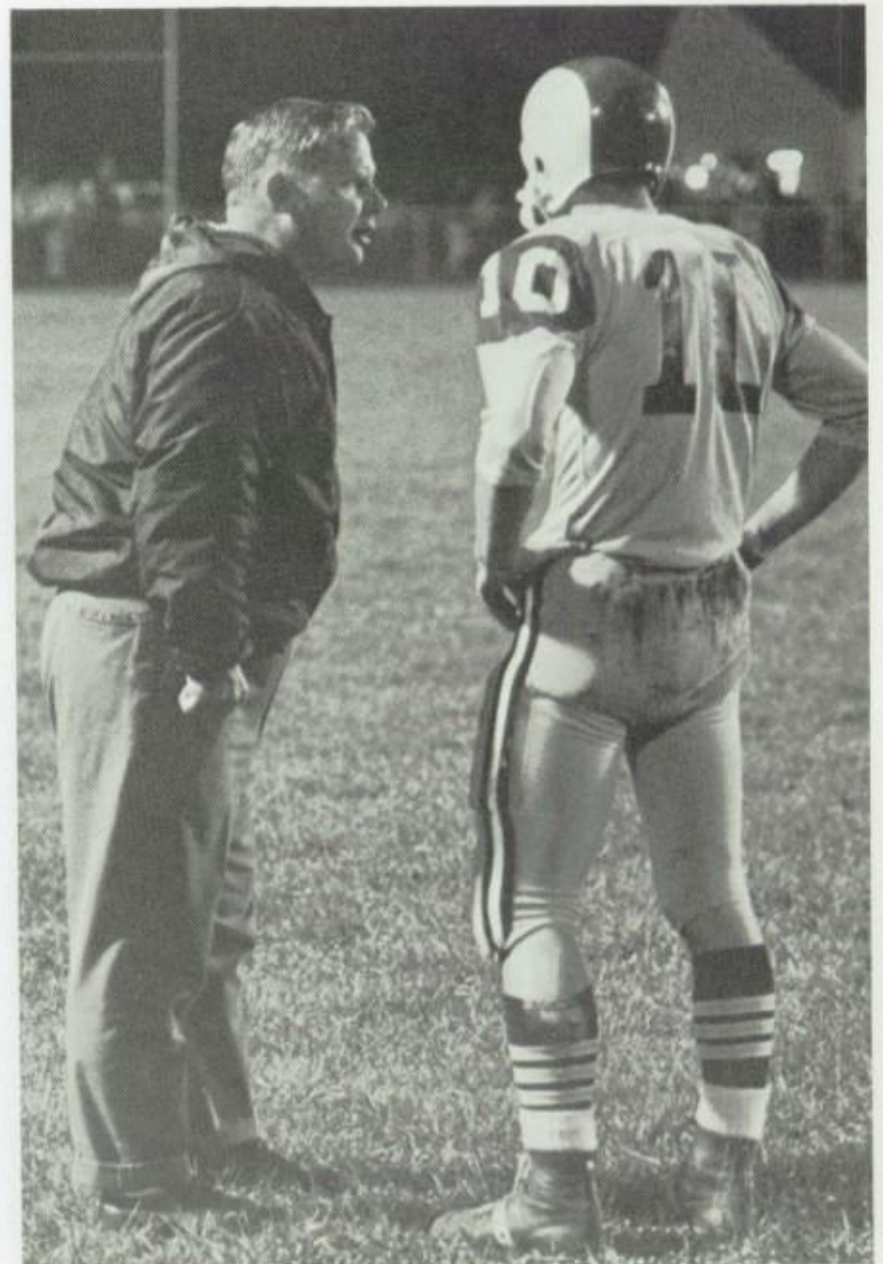

Rain, nor sleet, nor snow can stop a rival football game.

Neff feels the effects of the game.

Mr. Rankin makes sure Conway knows what to do.

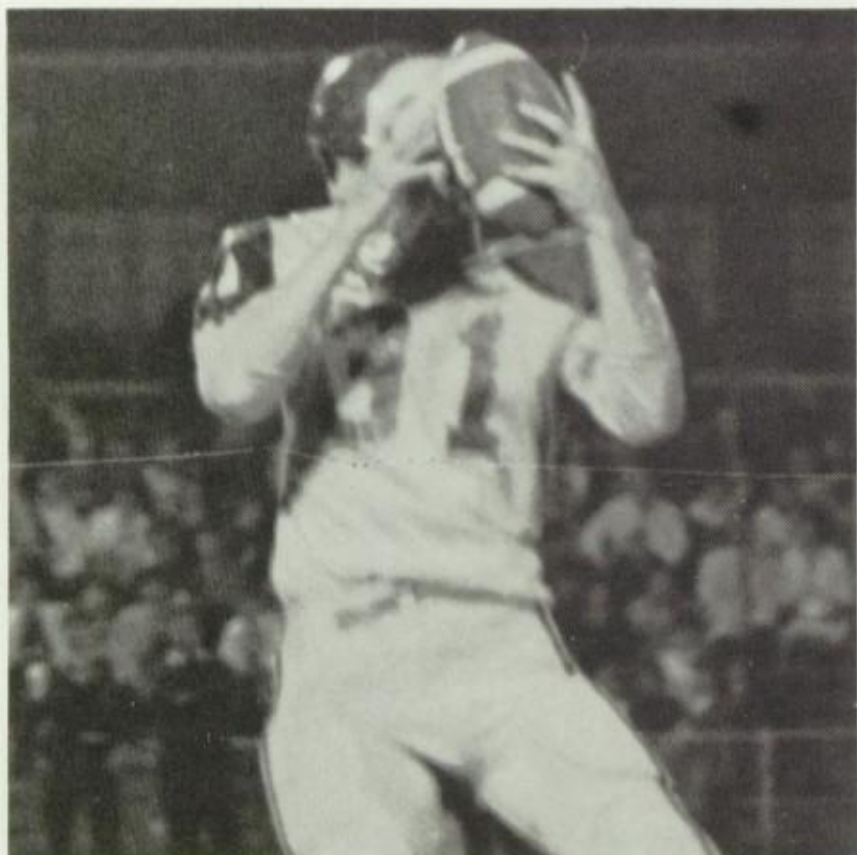

Next the Knights traveled south and played Princeton. The Princeton team stopped the Knights four game winning streak by the score of 20-6.

The running of some hard backs, good blocking, and a hungry defense overshadowed Lima's speed and agility as the Knights won the M. O. L. title, 12-6. Crotty and Neff scored Alter's only two T. D. 's, Crotty's coming on a splendid run of 50 yds.

Centerville found it hard to maintain its scoring average against Alter's stiff-necked defense. The team ignored the wet weather and dumped the challenging Elks 19-6. T. D. 's by Ellis, Reichart, and Neff, and a kicked conversion by Fraley accounted for the Knights scores.

Chaminade capitalized on several vital breaks and snuck by Alter 9-6. The Knights defensive unit rigidly drove back two deep Chaminade drives in the first half. Late in the third period, they recovered the ball on the Alter 48 yd. line. Several plays later, in the fourth quarter, the Eagle Q. B. threw a pass to his end on the one yard line. It APPEARED he trapped the ball, but it was whistled a completion. The Knights defense dug-in, but on fourth down Chaminade scored what proved to be the winning touchdown. Alter's score came in the fourth quarter when Conway hit Sophomore end Dave Gray with a T. D. pass. The Knights gained possession of the ball once more, but time ran out. In the final Journal Herald Rating, Alter was rewarded for their fine 6-2 record with a 6th place ranking.

Koehnen hauls one in on about their twenty.

Reichert free on a pass pattern.

Conway lets one fly.

Father Haskamp offers his congratulations.

AWARDS BANQUET

The Football Banquet was the night that the players were given recognition for their fine season. Varsity letters were given out to those who played in half or more of the quarters during the season. Special trophies were given to those players who did outstanding work. The captain award went to Tom Belle for his leadership during the year. The backfield award went to Dan Reichert while Dennis Neff received the most valuable player for a job excellently done. The John D. Obrien award for the athlete who excells in scholastic excellence was presented to Gary Ireton. We would like to extend our thanks to all the boys who made our season a success.

THE GIRLS WHO CHEER US ALONG

One of the many ways in which they lead us on to the victory.

The cheerleaders in a moment of happiness.

VICTORY

UP, UP AND AWAY.

The cheerleaders hold up their own.

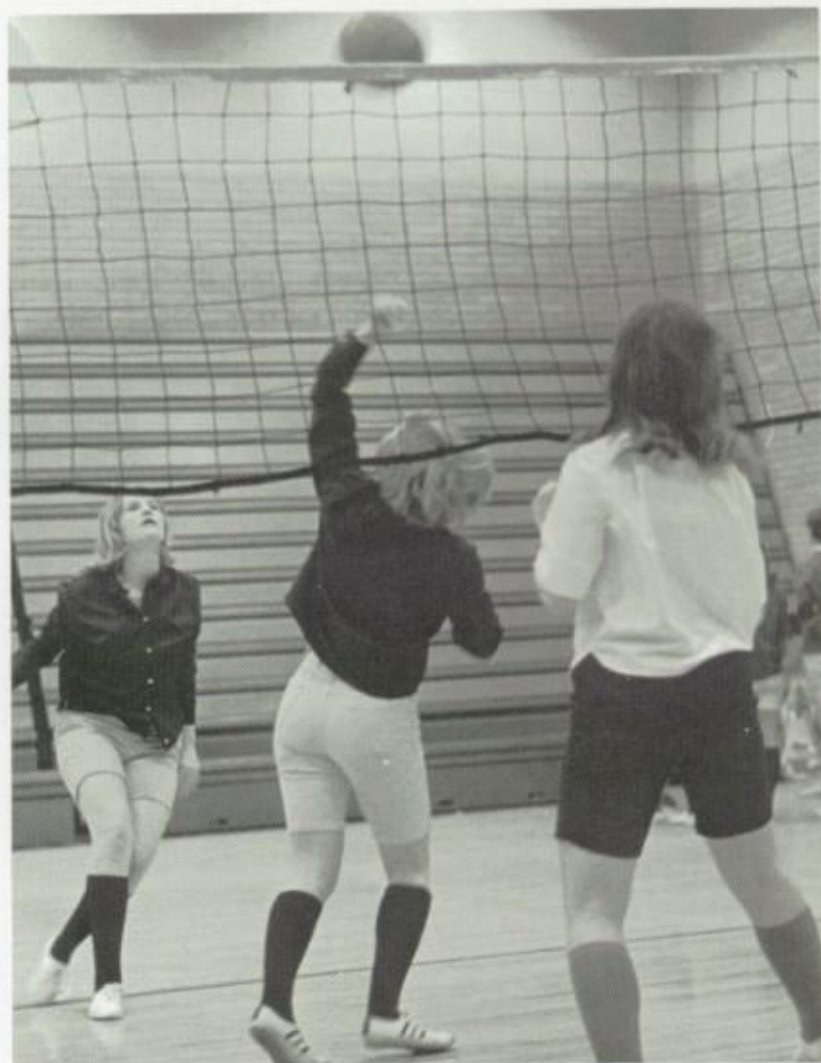

In May cheerleading try-outs began in which twelve girls were finally chosen. M. Dintaman was named captain along with Seniors C. Kosater and T. Smith. Juniors chosen for the varsity were S. McLaren, D. Fiorita and K. Branigan. Sophomore girls who made reserves were J. Kuntz, M.J. Schmitt, M. Rogero and captain K. Staley. The varsity cheerleaders over summer vacation went to cheerleading camp at Valley Vista where they got 1st place in all competition. The girls showed and used their skills at the games to lead us on to victory. At the middle of the season S. Kussman was named cheerleader when M. Dintaman resigned.

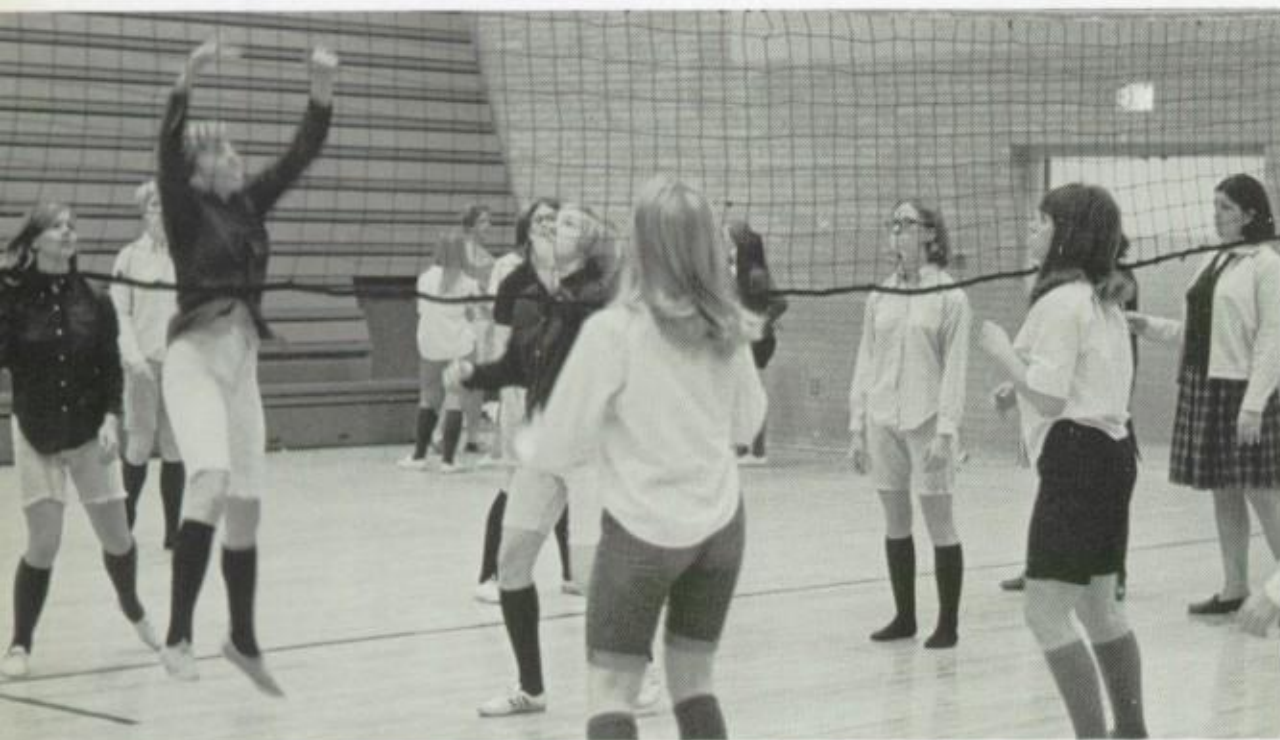

That's the way boys.

Volleyball is fast, frantic and fun. Many tense afternoons of footwork brought agility to our girls' team. A rush for the net, a dozen hands straining to "whack it one" ...and finally the ball is returned. One breath of excitement keeps the air electric until at last the game ends and the girls find they've had fun after all.

The game is tense; the ball is slammed back.

A small eternity -- then it's over!

Darn - too short!

Teamwork combines for a good score; the gang combines for a good time.

A team member concentrates.

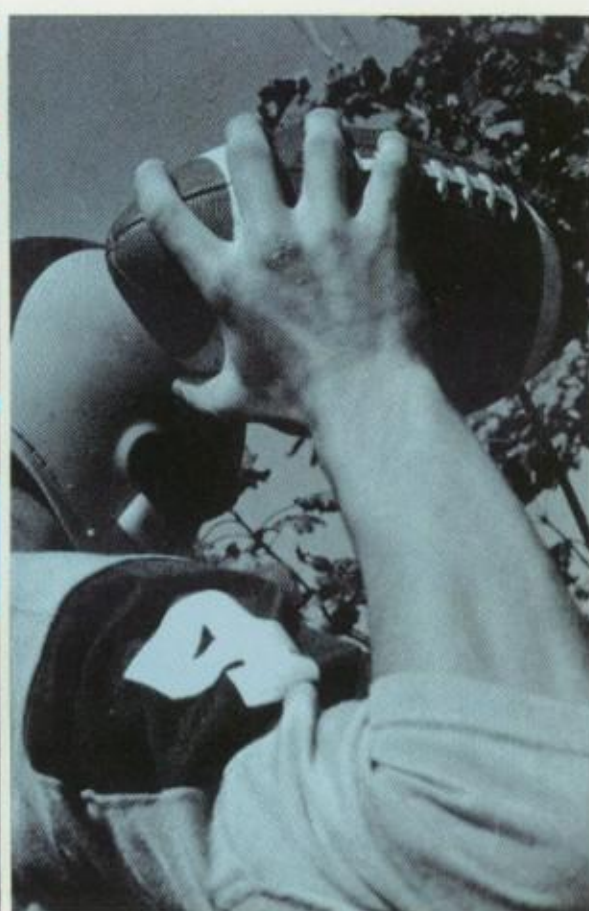

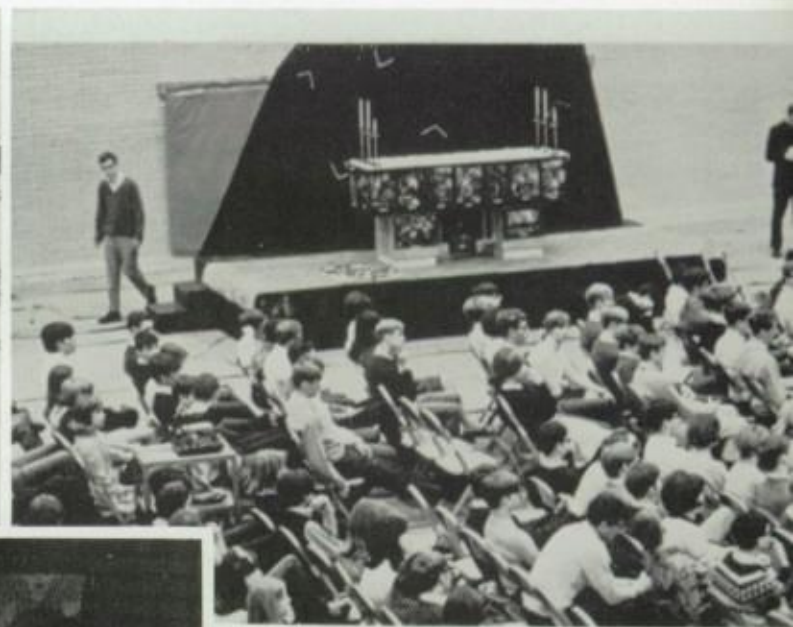

Not only the men showed special prowess in sports. The girls' bowling team exhibited singular style in the matches and carried well-deserved trophies home as proof. Bowling takes "the cool head and the keen eye" and a sharp judgment. But it also requires grace and fluency of movement. The practice the girls put in showed in their well-toned and skillful performances.

Form and ease make for a good performance.

Christmas Angels at Alter's gym

During the Advent and Christmas seasons, various organizations at Alter sponsored activities in the Christmas spirit. The Art Department made a nativity scene out of paper mache, which was placed above Alter's main entrance, and the Student Council sponsored a holiday dance on Dec. 23.

A Charlie Brown Christmas for many small children

In tune with the season's happy chaos, the Spanish Club added a Latin flavor to their Christmas with their own party. YCS took the role of Santa Claus for a group of children from St. Martin de Porres school in Cincinnati.

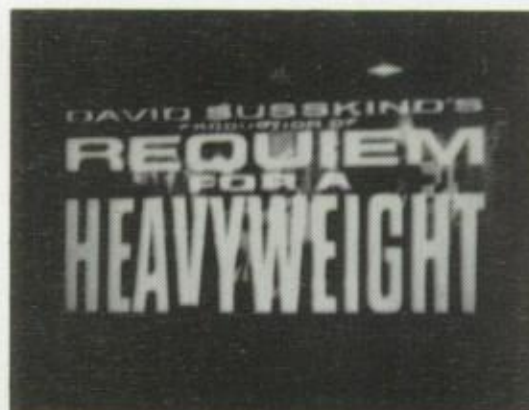

Merry Christmas from Hermana's pidgies.

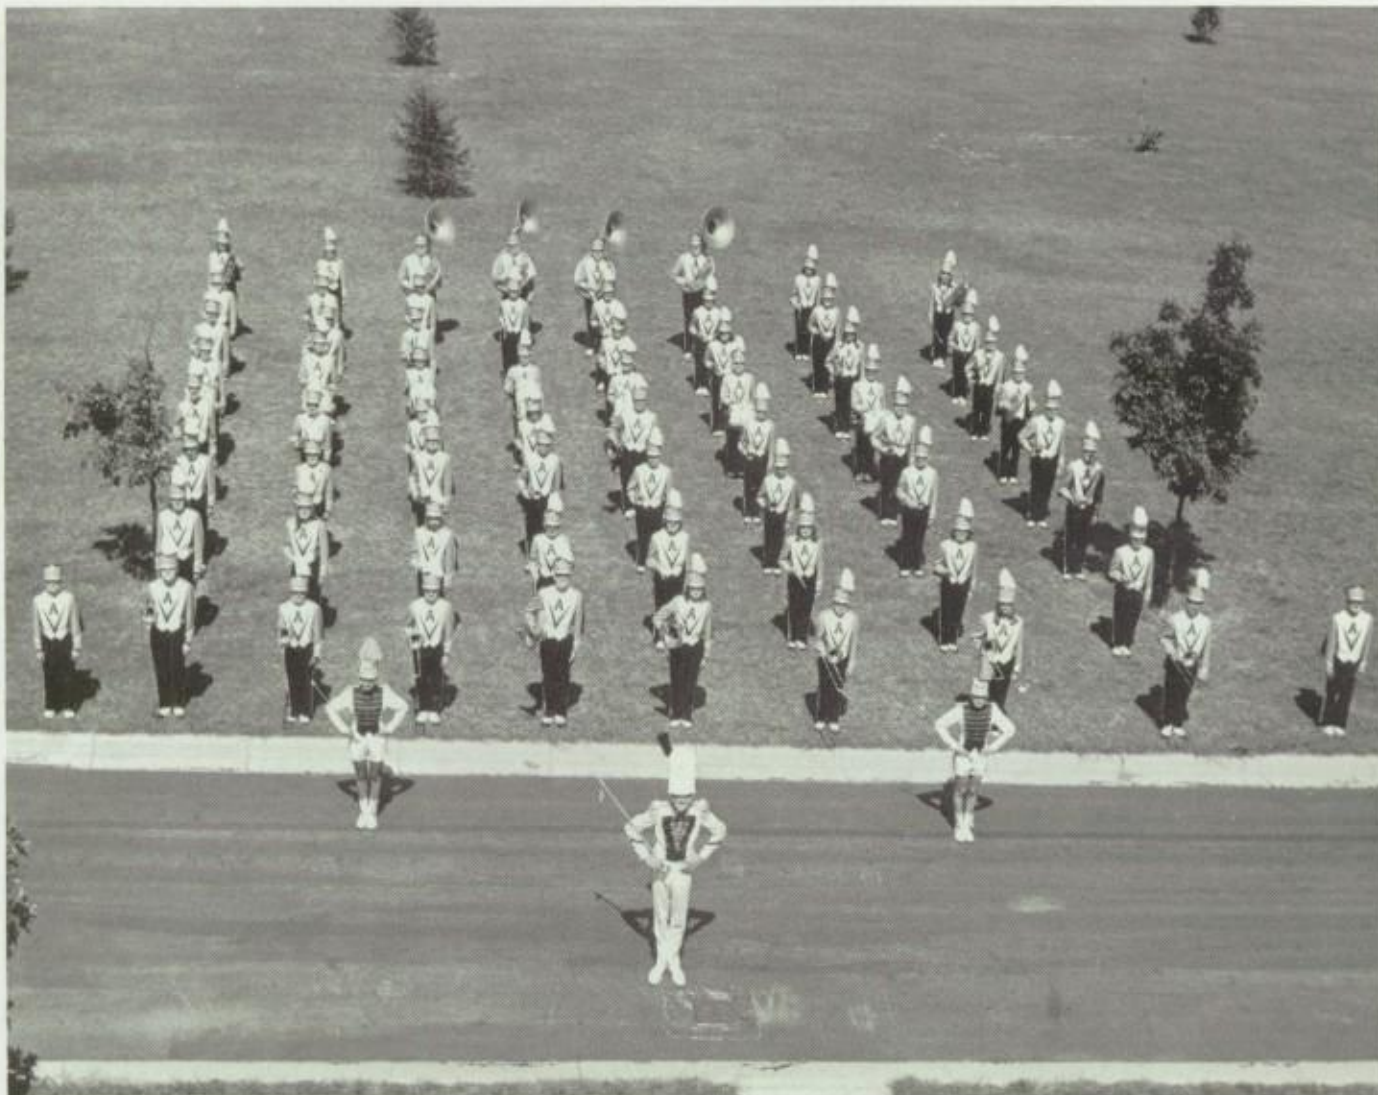

We love you Santa.

RETREAT

The class retreats were based on community this year and not on withdrawal. A day of discussions and the short film "The Parable" gave the freshmen much to consider. The sophomores had an "electronic" Mass and a talk by former drug addict Sonny Questa. The juniors had a feature movie and a homemade film on getting together, creative periods, a concelebrated Mass and a dinner. And at last the long-awaited rings gleamed on junior hands.

Alter's 1967 Marching Band.

The 1967-68 Alter Band began its Marching Season in late August with Band Camp. During the Marching Season it performed six half-time shows for football games in cooperation with the Lancerettes. In December and again in May, directed by G. Ronald Bickert, Jr., the Concert Band cooperated with the choral groups put on two concerts, as well as receiving a good rating of III in the OMEA music Competition, which it was entering for the first time.

From football field to auditorium

BRIGADOON

Plans began within the last few years, and tryouts began in early January. It was a long road to BRIGADOON, and many times the cast and crew were not quite sure it would ever really appear, whole and alive. Still, they worked. Dancers, actors and chorus rehearsed hour after hour; stage crew built semi-abstract scenery to focus attention on people. Paint crew and props committee worked week after week to get ready while the make-up gang practiced on each other, pretending. The program and publicity committees worried and worked, worried, and worked harder.

Then on March 29, 30, 31 and April 5 and 6, there it was - BRIGADOON, from somewhere in the highland mist. They had known it was there all along, but it took a hundred years of time, effort, and love to make it appear. Only this time, it dinna go away.

Practice makes perfect.

Musical comedy is serious business.

Wake up, dad.

My heart belongs to dad.

On Feb. 16, the weekend after Valentine's Day, the Cheerleaders sponsored their annual Father-Daughter Dance. This year the theme was "A Psychedadic Date with Daddy," and the evening was highlighted by solos from the golden-throated Fr. Guntzelman and senior Julie Smith. The fast-dance contest winners were tied this year, Sue Scianamblo and Mary Lou Whitaker, and thier still young-at-heart dads.

Swing low sweet Sue

It sure isn't the frug.

On March 8, assisted by the support, of questionable value of the junior and senior boys drill team and cheerleaders, the junior girls whipped the senior in their annual basketball game. A week later, the seniors fell again, when the men of the faculty defeated the senior boys soundly.

These are our girls.

Spectacular and ingenious routines by the Alter Lancerettes Drill Team highlighted the half time ceremonies during each football and at many basketball games. At each football game the snappy blow of the whistle began the colorful arrangements which inspired the student body to new heights of school spirit. Mrs. Lois Ulrich was invaluable in helping the girls to produce an outstanding marching corps of talent worthy of all our praises.

Preparations besides practice.

Final Record: 11-9

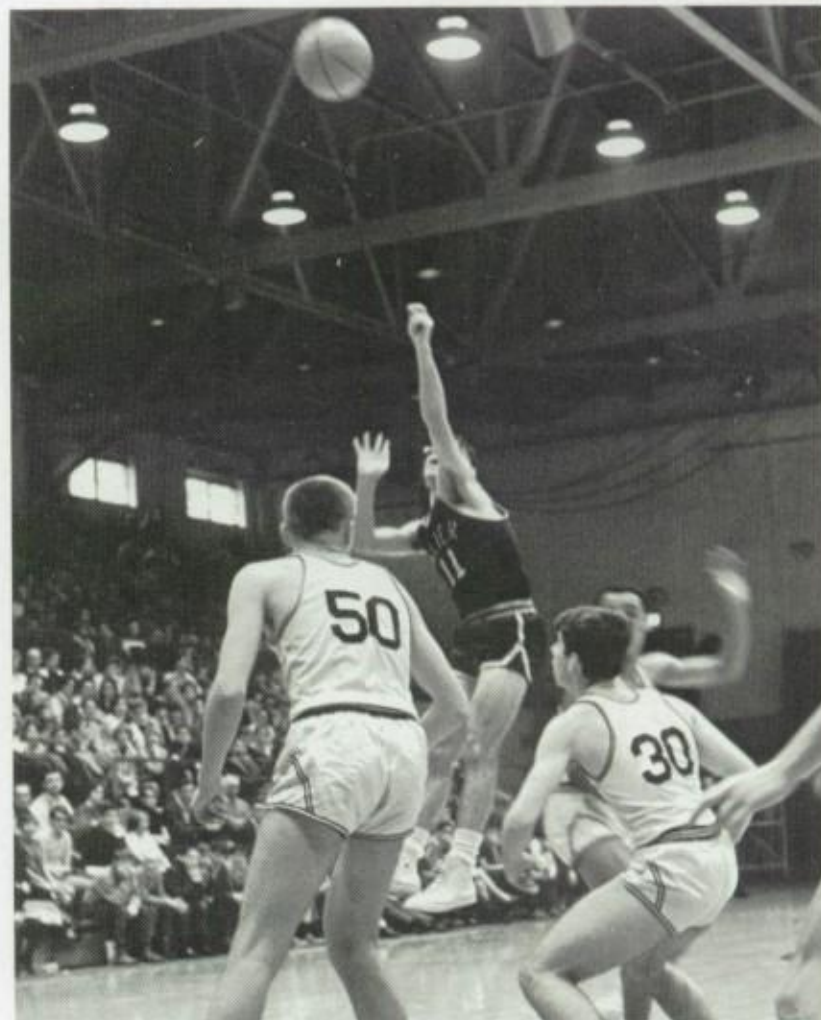

Coach Petrocelli stressed a winning season and his team accomplished it with an 11-9 record. In their home opener, the Knights squeaked past neighboring Oakwood 54-53 and the following week tripped Stebbins 53-47. Next, Number One rated Dunbar exploded in the last remaining minutes on Alter's mistakes to defeat the challenging Knights 83-53.

Again, on December 8, the home court proved to be in the Knights' favor as they rocked invading Fenwick 73-61. However, frigid shooting by Alter resulted in an 82-61 setback to Belmont. In the second half of the Fairmont East game, the Falcons rallied to take a heart-breaker 50-47.

The Knights finished in third place in the Christmastime Kettering Invitational Tournament, losing to Centerville but taking Oakwood in the consolation game. After the holidays, Portsmouth overshadowed Alter's performance with a 77-50 romp. The team outscored Carroll by a 55-52 verdict, but dropped a 59-44 decision to Hamilton Badin.

Springfield Catholic bowed to the Knights in a tension-packed overtime game, 49-43. Again the U. D. jinx was prevailing from previous games as Chaminade bombed the Knights 73-53. In their last road game, the Knights regained their winning performances by nipping West Milton 59-56 and at home downed Bellbrook 71-59. Cincinnati Moeller blasted the visiting Knights 73-56.

The Knights won their last game of the season by dumping Columbus Hartley 64-56. This was the first time Alter defeated Col. Hartley in basketball and the first time she went undefeated at home, 6-0.

SENIORS

The seniors on the 1967-68 team were Mike Whalen, Chuck Ellis, Tom Belle and Dan Reichert. All worked hard and played well, and helped bring about another winning season.

Freshman Basketball

A Freshman team has to overcome many obstacles. Primarily, fifteen "green" individualistic basketball players must be united into one team. Though the team was small in size, they made up the difference in hustle. In practice and in the game, the desire to win and to play as a team were present on the court.

Eiffel Tower?

SPRING

IN THE MAKE . . . TARA

On April 27, there it was-- TARA, there as if by magic. But hardly. In February the major plans began; committees were set and began to think. Date and theme were also set; committees started not only to think but to work. Hours upon hours were spent by the committee and many other juniors worked to prepare the decoration for both the cafeteria and the gym. A bridge was constructed for the lobby, a mansion front for the bleachers and a fountain for the middle of the gym. But a dozen other committees also worked long and hard, and were successful.

What do you mean, it won't go up any higher???

...but how're we gonna play basketball?

Of course it's straight!..the ceiling's crooked.

When you're too tired to cry, laugh!!!

WE'LL THINK ABOUT TARA TOMORROW

AT THE DANCE

The success was not a nebulous thing or even a halfway thing. TARA was not just the fact that the gym no longer looked like a gym; TARA was a place of its own, and a mood, dignified, but one of the friendliest and most well attended proms Alter has had.

The theme of "Tara" was taken from the pre-Civil War story of the South, GONE WITH THE WIND, and the decorations were made accordingly. The music was provided by the Mel Haney orchestra, and the mood provided by a tired but happy junior class and a grateful group of seniors.

I think grape juice looks cute on your dress!

AMEN

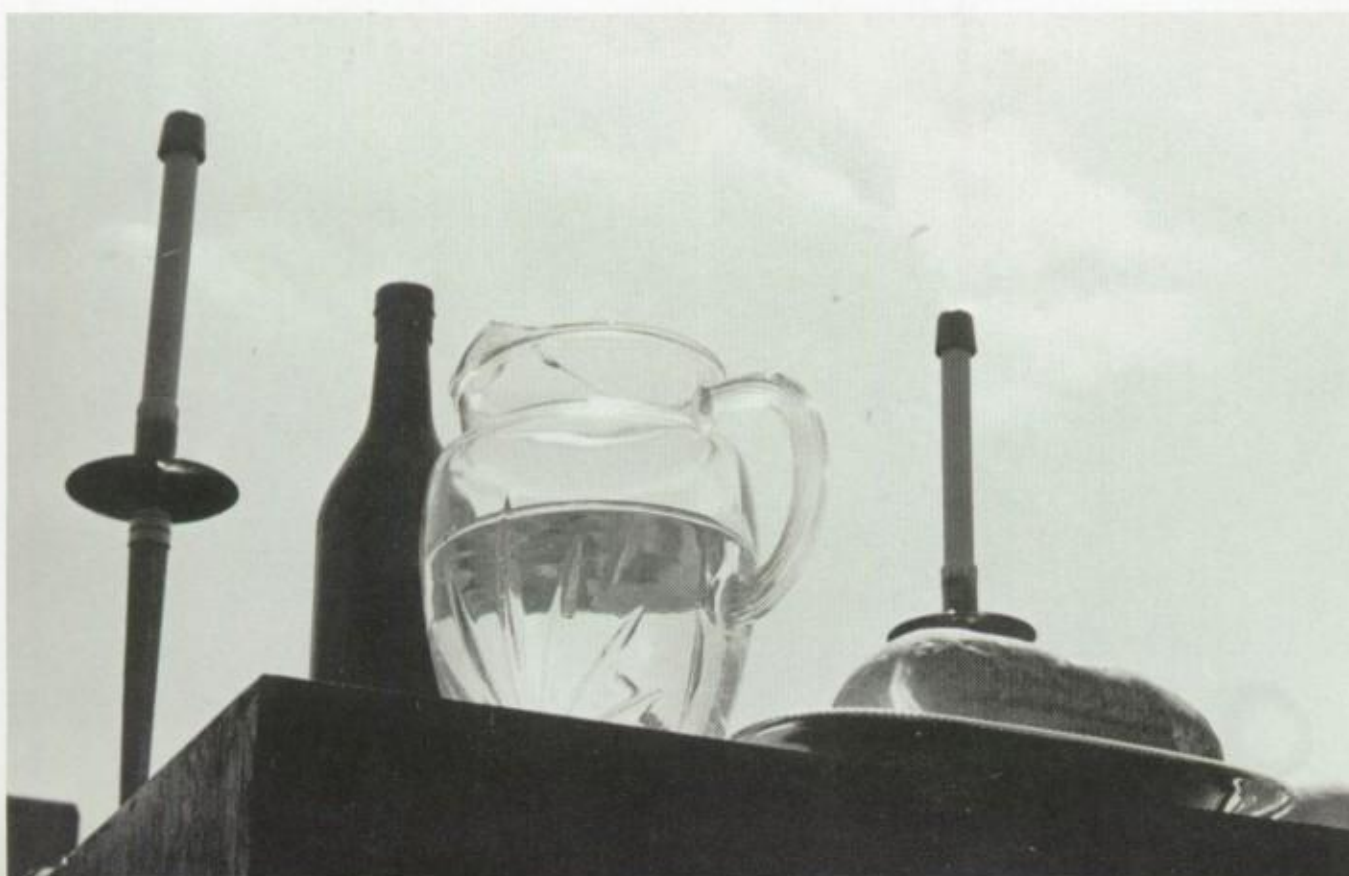

Bravery runs in many themes.
Some show it but once.
Others live it.
For all those who believe,
bravery is common ground.
For Bob Cannon in Vietnam and for his brothers in bravery, we say Amen.

In memory of Bob Cannon...

...and all those who give their lives for convictions.

THE WAR GAME

What else can you say?

"Peace Day" at Alter brought fright and helplessness. A wave of shock receded and left people thinking. "The War Game" had come and gone. The film showed the holocaust, the dropped bomb we hear so much about, in graphic and shocking scenes. Afterwards people began to talk about it.

"The Hat" caricatured two soldiers guarding a line in the snow that kept them from reaching each other. Behind the guns they were safe and secure. Behind human mistrust we are safe and secure--until suddenly, sometime, something jolts us into really human action. We reach out a hand.

And is this any more ridiculous than children's games???

LET US TALK

People-to-people day-- Carroll, Fairmont West, Dunbar, Roth, Jefferson, Roosevelt and Alter got together and said "Let Us Talk." The National Honor Society's first interracial program meant involvement.

Our guests were Phil Donahue and two representatives of the Urban League, Rudolph Duncan and Walter Brown. The conclusion? Talk to your brothers.

People-to-people problems, being hashed and rehashed.

And listen, I've got this chemistry teacher who's unbelievable. . .

Nine Alter students and Sister Laura Mary receiving a warm welcome at Roosevelt.

We Understand

Happiness Is

TO HELP

You hear a lot about all the Beautiful People.

Really Beautiful People are the ones who help. Ninety Alter students in the tutorial program help.

There's a mission in the world of reaching out a hand to others.

It's a beautiful thing to be able to say, "I do it."

The bigger they are the harder they fall.

COFFEE HOUSE

Black coffee, please.

Music takes many shapes - formal, flourished, or fun.

Alter's "Coffee Concert" was of the fun type. No coffee, perhaps, but plenty of punch and cookies for a relaxed audience.

It's not the only way to enjoy music, but it's one that makes for lots of entertainment.

ELECTION '68

Amidst reams of paper and slogans, Alter's budding politicians made their bid for power. After the nominations and primaries, a week of enthusiastic campaigning ensued, including an assembly for campaign speeches by all candidates. After the voting at the end of the week, the long-awaited announcements were made: Ed Dudzinski, Mary Fanz, Russ Jarmusch and Cindy Ditzel were the new Student Council officers.

The Student Council elections had a radical effect on the Alter Student Body. Observe the above before and after pictures.

SPEECHES

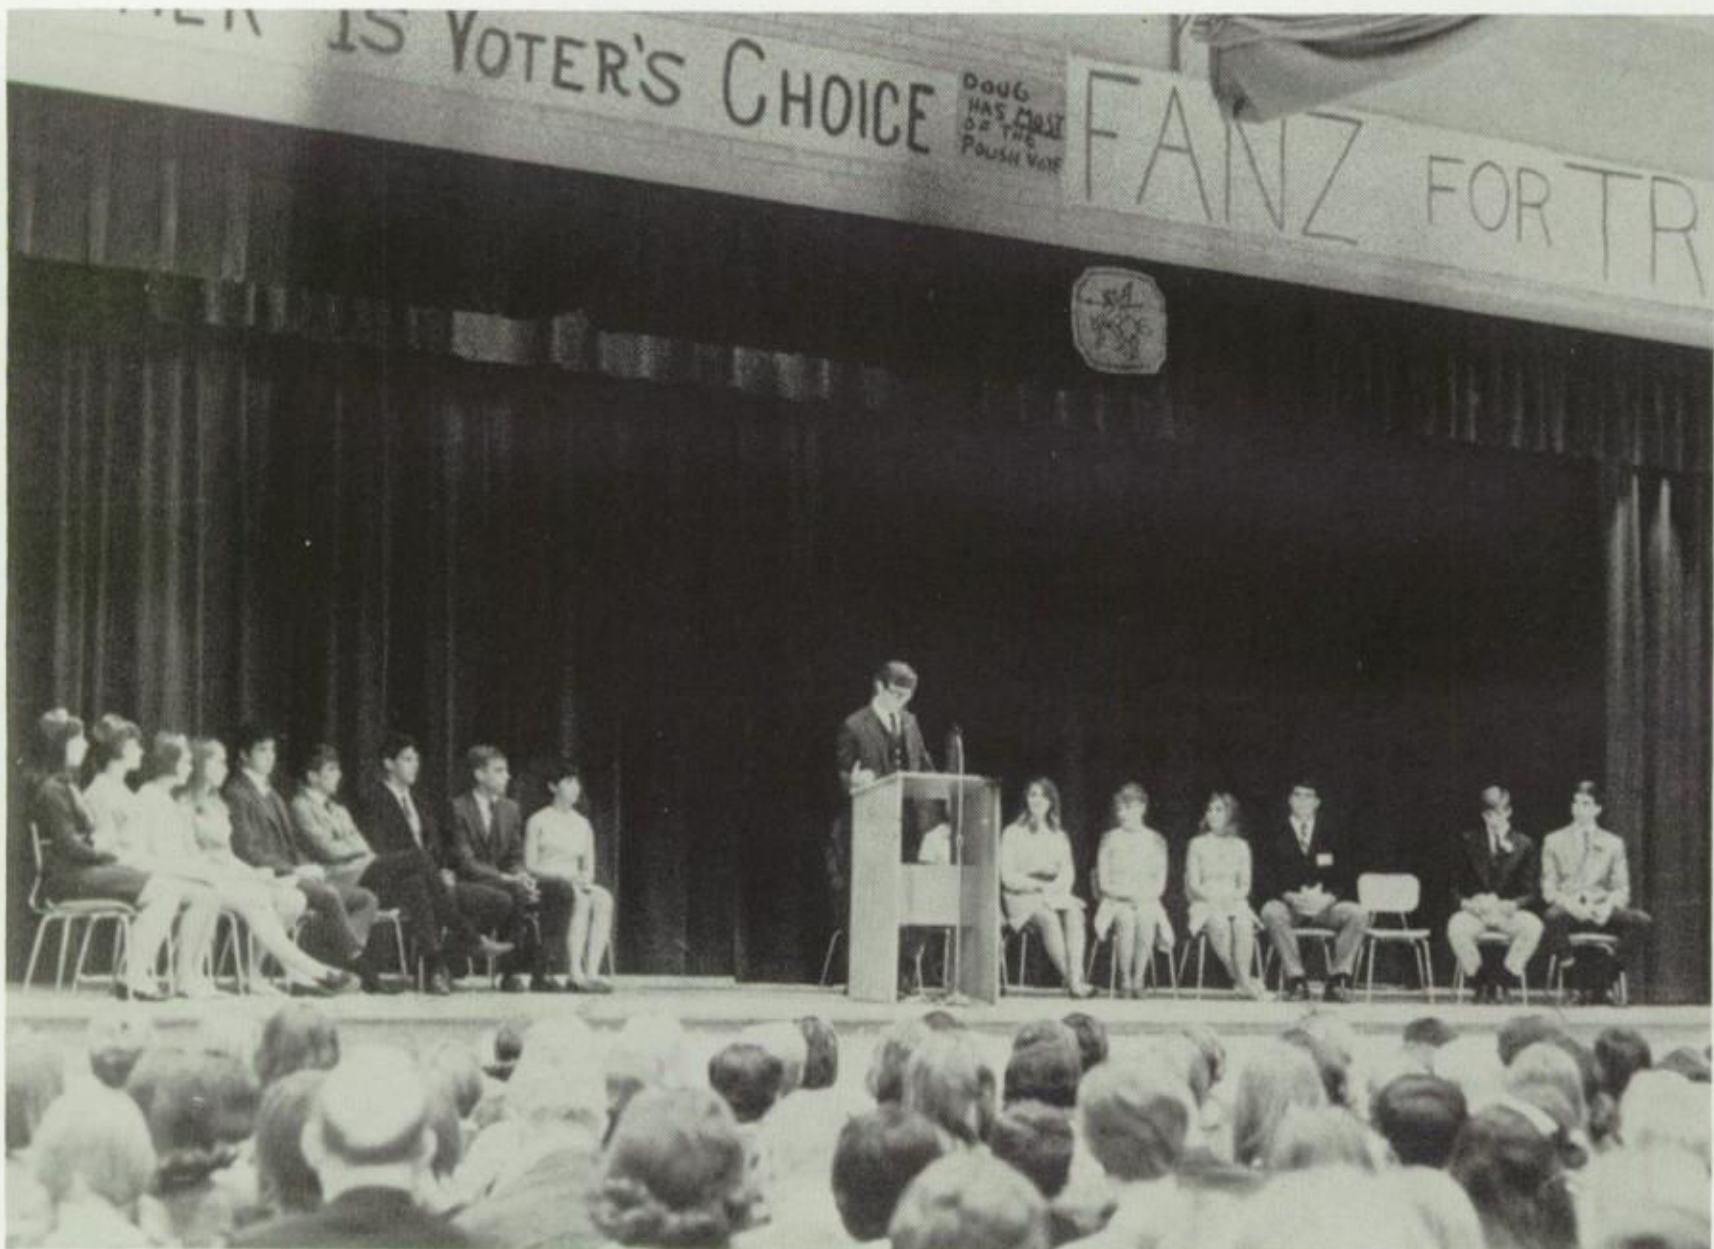

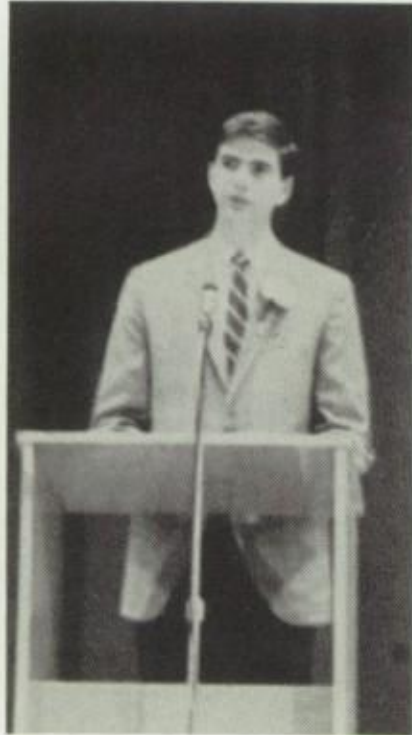

The candidates:

Ed Dudzinski,

Doug Zimmer,

Russ Jarmusch,

and Tony Keyes.

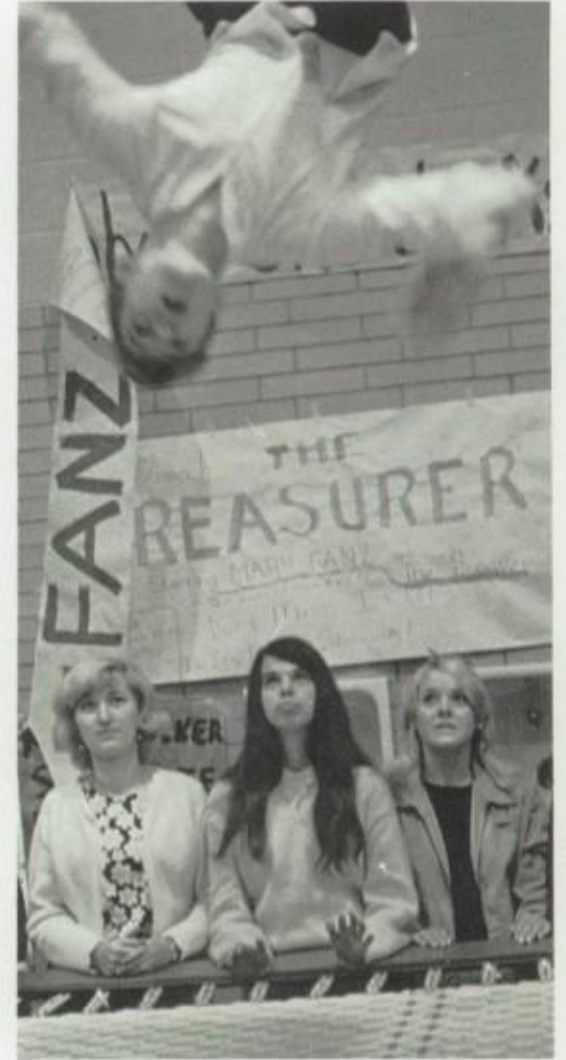

A message from the front...

We get the pongs!

Up, up and...down?

SENIOR FUN

On Senior day, appropriately, seniors are officially permitted to act like they are young again. After the movie CAT BALLOU and adequate sustenance (little kids need lots of energy), the seniors were allowed the use of the trampoline, parallel bars, and anything else they could get their hands on. But soon the realization came - we too weren't as young as we used to be.

What do you mean, right foot orange???

The 2nd Annual Mother's Tea was held on the afternoon of May 5 in the Alter cafeteria. For the first time the senior girls were invited by the mothers as guests, and senior girls and their mothers were distinguished by white carnations they were given at the door. Trish Suttman played the piano and Julie Smith sang, as mothers and daughters had tea or coffee and cookies, and talked and mingled and talked and mingled as only mothers can.

The mothers are welcomed with flowers.

Do it!

GRADUATION: CLASS OF 1968

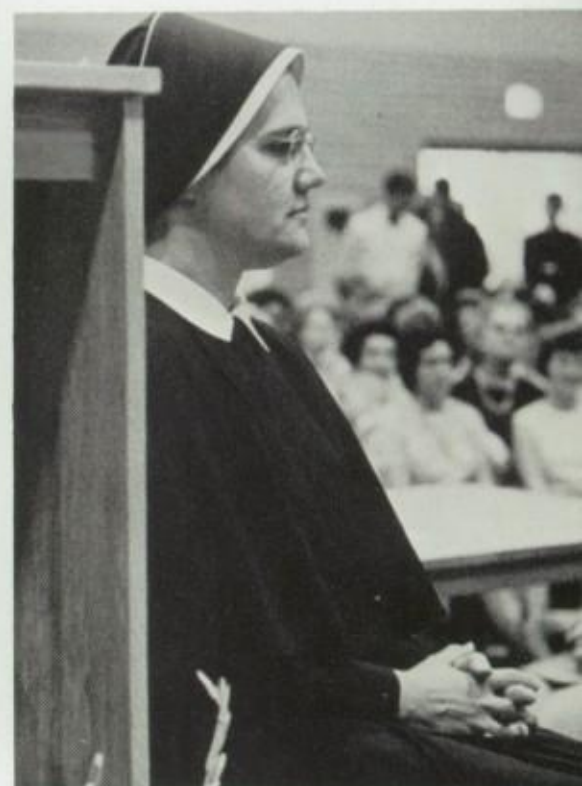

This year pauses, passing,
And the past is time that's still too young
Too close to open what we've had as one.
We know these years still by events,
The artifice of place and date
Instead of knowing what we here have been.

Forgetting seems a painful thing,
The losing of what must be held
But its more the gentle shift from hold to have,
Details with their emptiness
Will slip away, as living gives Unfolding each day what we here have been.

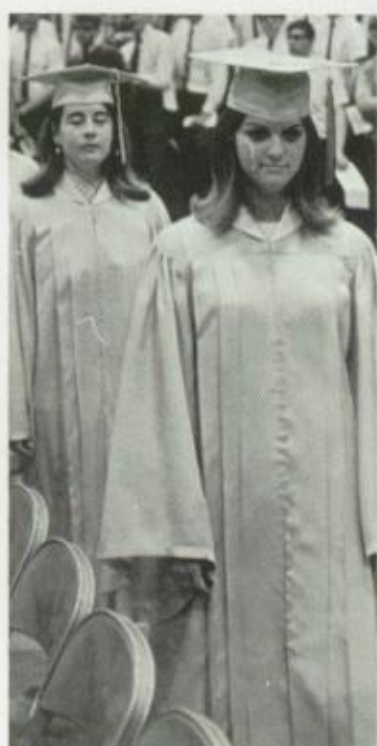

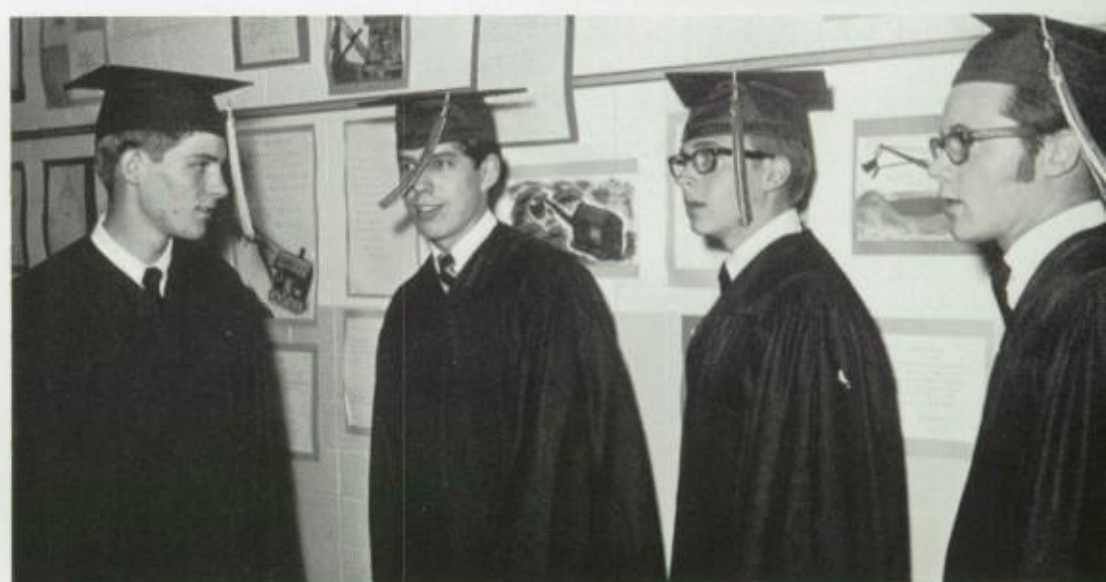

Father recognizes accomplishments, again...

and again.

Moving

Never again boys and girls...

Before our last celebration together.

A salute.

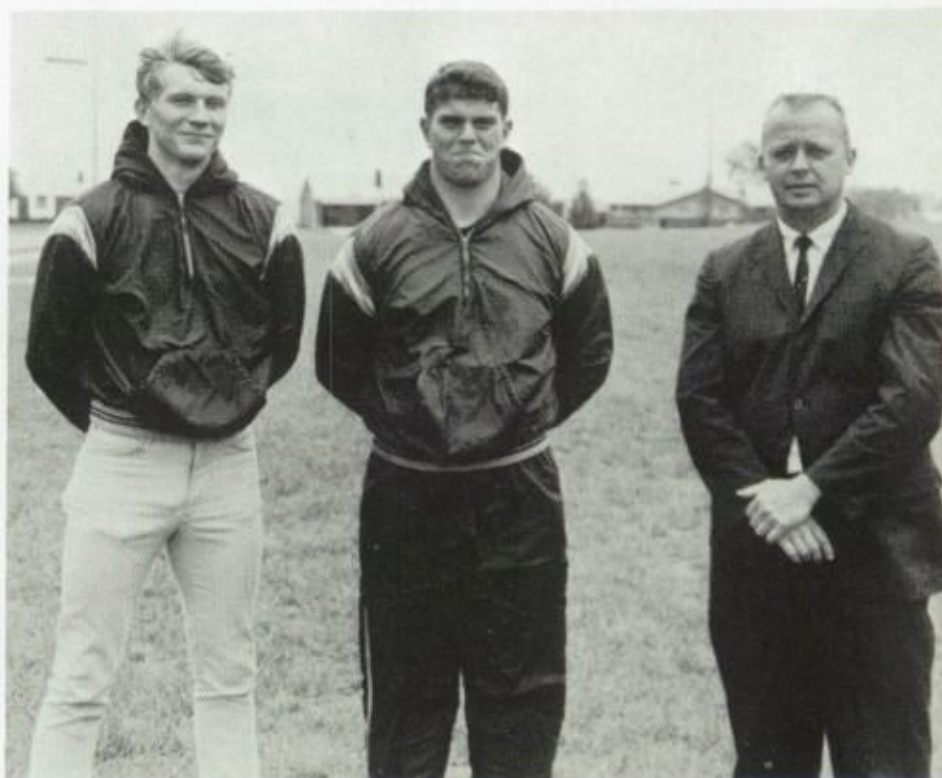

Reflections...

TRACK

Alone we can do nothing, together we are whole.

Alter's 1968 track team had a good season with many commendable victories. Mr. Ward again showed the students of Alter that good coaching and extensive knowledge contributes to the quality of the performing athletes.

These are our leaders and we thank you.

Silhouetted against the sky, Alter pole vaulter soars over the bar.

Despite the lack of strong depth Alter's 1968 track team displayed marked improvement over the previous season as individual stars lead the way.

Outstanding for Alter were Tim Quinn in shot and discus and John Hoelscher.

The limbo would be easier.

Darn that right leg.

High jumper's winning form.

This is the important leg.

Almost without effort.

The last leg is the long one.

The relay is the most demanding overall event in the track competition. Alter's team always made a fine showing and produced 100% effort. Wherever they ran Alter ran with them.

It's going to be a long season, boys.

In the make... a double?

But the ball was way up here!

But I can't run any faster.

Whenever you are ready.

Congratulations from the coach.

Alter throw picks off foe at first base.

The baseball season proved to be a long one for the Alter nine. The team finished the season with a record of 2 wins and 13 losses, showing improvement near the end of the season with narrow losses to Kaiser, Belmont, and Lima Catholic.

And behind every mask, a catcher.

What's the meaning of this?

The ball's over there !

G.A.A.'S SPRING FUN

Our girls make their first attempt at the sport of track.

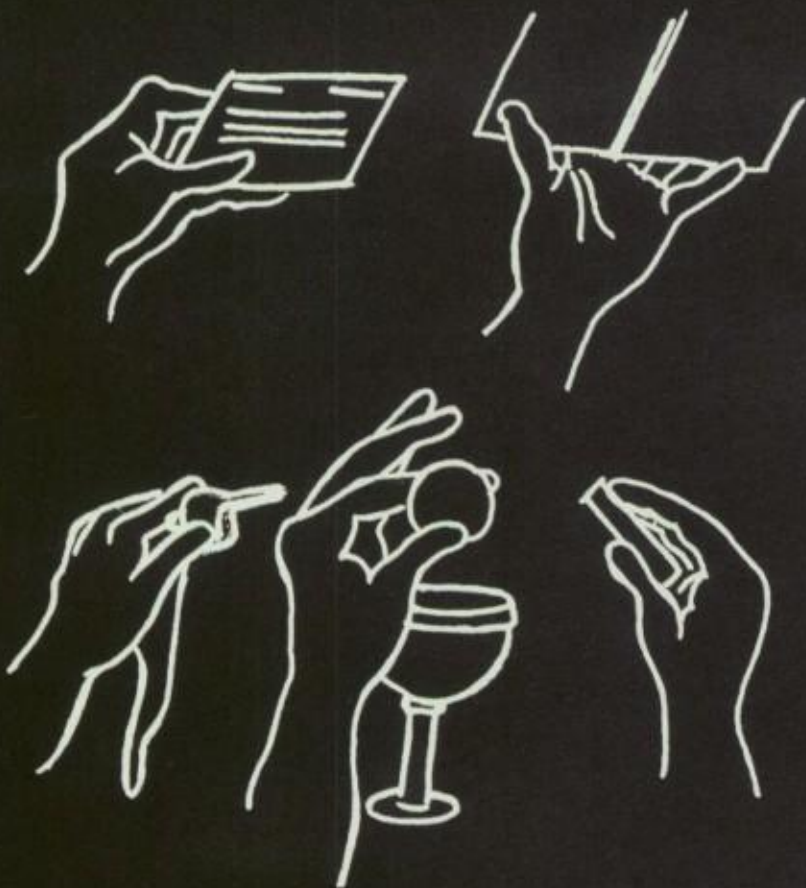

The girls enjoy the fun and the exercise of a demanding sport.

seniors:
finally but so soon -
the very last time i'll sit across from what's his name. my gosh. i used to borrow crayons from him in the first grade . . . the last prom,
the last exam,
the last game,
the last concert. it finally came and i never would have believed it. i still don't.
hey, wait just a minute; you can't do this; i'm only three-and-a-half years old, deep down.
and still,
somehow,
it's time.
the beginning of the end? hardly.
just offhand, i'd say,
about the middle of the beginning

UNDERCLASSMEN

three years -
the ones that seem to stretch forward at least forever -
not slowly, exactly, only it just seems like a sort of permanent condition:
underclassmen.
freshmen . . . whatever manner of strange and willing beast they are - sophomores in the middle of everything, and just waiting for something to break open,
and juniors,
on the brink of really beginning to make things make sense.
what a time to be alive in,
for those who let themselves be alive - so much, so little growing space.
it's like an equilibrium reaction:
it looks as if nothings going on, and really everything is.

ACTIVITIES

clubs,
pins, badges, treasurer,
committeehead,
committeefoot,
meetings and minutes and dues and what's it all FOR??
well,
you see,
somewhere between the first announcement and the farewell dinner, people sit down and talk, then stand up and act.
and if they do,
clubs, pins, badges, treasurer,
committeehead,
committeefoot,
- well, i guess they make sense.

DAMN, I'm just again. I can only wish you luck with your fish.
(I'M AFRAID WE ALL NEED IT) I hope your breeding comes out better from now on.
